

Getting sorted

Your life-long workspace partner

OFFICIO

Finding a new workspace is a headache. Let us help.

At Officio, we work alongside businesses to make the process of finding the right workspace altogether easier and more straight forward.

It's simple. We ask the right questions to find out what you really need. Then only show you what's really worth your time. And we don't bombard you with irrelevant nonsense or endless listings. Ever.

What's more, the workspace providers pay us once we make a successful match. So Officio is totally free for you. Forever.

Officio | how we do it

1. Let's chat

A conversation at the start of your workspace search means we get the right options for your business first time.

2. Workspace wallet

Our unique online tool, managing everything from your shortlist to viewings, to contracts once you decide on your next workspace.

3. Viewings

Your client advisor will arrange a pre-viewing call to discuss your schedule, before giving you all the tools you need for viewing success.

4. Viewing Feedback

Use your client advisors experience; let them know the good, the bad and which options you liked best so they can move your search forward.

5. Comparing workspaces

Our comparison tool combines all your favoured workspaces in one place, allowing you to make a like-for-like judgement.

6. Your next best move

Decision made? Great! Your client advisor will make sure you get the right deal for your business on your favoured workspace.

7. Your partner for life

We will be here to help you move in, when you renew and if you look to move or take on more workspace.

We aim to ensure you never need to look elsewhere for workspace related help. Ever.
